Please note that our offices are closed for holidays between December 22, 2012 and January 2, 2013. However, we are still accepting applications during that period.

ICTC's labour market intelligence estimates that by 2016, approximately 106,000 ICT jobs will need to be filled in Canada with a demand for critical jobs that far exceeds the supply, in both traditional and emerging ICT industries. That equates to an annual hiring rate of nearly 17, 000 ICT professionals! With an increasing demand for the right mix of technical experience combined with business understanding, it is ever more critical today that the successful integration of global ICT talent move front and centre to ensure Canada's competitive advantage in today's global economy.
